Since we have a house we could sometimes cook in the house together and eat together at the house. Not all the time of course. But once or twice during the meeting.

The food was enough and it was very tasty

Thanks James to provide us of all necessary food in the House.

I think that being in a BNB was a great idea because we could have meetings when it was needed

In future transnational meetings, we could explore using AI tools for automatic transcription, aligning with the project's focus on integrating and familiarizing ourselves with AI technologies.
